

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is offensive. As a former Army Reservist who served my country proudly it's appalling how blatantly biased your companies are. I have two young boys and I am genuinely afraid of where this country is headed. Is there going to be a future for my boys in this polluted, corrupt system? Thanks to companies like yours who aren't even trying to pretend they have any journalistic integrity to tell the truth, my sons are confused about what is the truth and what isn't. PBS is the only station I've seen so far that gave an unbiased appraisal of Bush and Kerry. So why can't you do the same? Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. I don't feel they are serving the public interest and should be barred from this kind of programming. Thank you.
